Seminar paper del año 2013 en el tema Romanística - Español, literatura, cultura general, Nota: 1,0, Justus-Liebig-Universität Gießen (Institut für Romanistik), Materia: Gabriel García Márquez: Cien años de soledad, Idioma: Español, Resumen: La epopeya familiar Cien años de soledad escrita por el galardonado premio nobel Gabriel García Márquez es una de las obras más importantes y revolucionarias de la literatura latinoamericana. Su novela, publicada en 1967, es considerada como prototipo del 'realismo mágico', que une lo mágico con lo real. Este trabajo está dedicado al tema del 'realismo mágico' y al análisis de sus elementos que aparecen en la obra Cien años de soledad. Se empezará con la historia y el desarrollo del término en Europa y Latinoamérica. Después intentaremos acercarnos a una definición del mismo. Al mismo tiempo, se nombrarán los representantes más importantes y sus enfoques. La parte principal del trabajo consistirá en la descripción y la interpretación de aspectos, que se pueden diferenciar entre 'lo mágico', 'lo milagroso' y 'lo fantástico'. Esa 'magia' concierne a seres humanos, animales, objetos, así como fenómenos abstractos que se refieren al tiempo, fijando la atención en lo que se llama 'la peste de insomnio' como enfermedad ficticia. Para finalizar, dedicaremos un tiempo a la relación entre la vida de Gabriel García Márquez y su narración. El objetivo de este trabajo no es presentar el tema del 'realismo mágico' en su totalidad, se trata más bien de enseñar la realización de este concepto en Cien años de soledad. Para ponerlo concretamente en práctica, se van a presentar muchos ejemplos de la literatura primaria, apoyado por los tratados de autores como Scheffel y Qual.
